if their grandparents were similarly prepared, culturally, to do well in school, it isn't surprising if they succeeded in overcoming the language barrier